

FINISTERRE - COSTA DA MORTE DAY TOUR

Reach the “World’s End” & experience the “Coast of Death” on a full day tour. The Camino to Finisterre pre-dates Christianity, as pagans would head to Fisterre (in Galician meaning the End of Land) on the Costa da Morte (Coast of Death - one of the most dangerous coast to sail) where they believed the sun died and the worlds of the dead and the living joined. When the Camino de Santiago became an important Christian pilgrimage, pilgrims started following this tradition and walking the 88 remaining kilometers to the Atlantic Ocean. Here, at the World’s End, with the almost permanent mist and the fierce ocean, they would burn their clothes, pray and symbolically start a new purer life.

We partnered with two reputable companies specialised in day tours from Santiago to provide daily departure at low cost. Choose which company, you prefer and discover: the bridge of Pontemaceira, the quaint fishing town of Muros, the unique Ézaro waterfall which flows into the sea, the old town of Finisterre and its lighthouse at the end of the world, as well as Muxía and the Virxe da Barca (Virgin of the Boat) Sanctuary.
